 4. Engineering technical reports (if available) should also be submitted, such as: preliminary hydrology/drainage report, soils report, geotechnical investigation, slope stability analysis, Phase 1 Site Assessment or Phase 2 Site Investigation reports, etc. There is no limit to the number of engineering reports that may be prepared by the applicant and submitted to the City (Council Resolution No. 7744). City staff or the City’s consultants may request revisions, at applicant’s cost, prior to deeming the report(s) accepted or complete. For development projects subject to NPDES requirements, a Preliminary Water Quality Management Plan must be submitted and accepted/approved prior to a hearing or decision on the project.
