Our Legacy

Hillside Memorial Park was established in 1886 by local pioneers Frank Brown and Edward Judson to serve the needs of the community of Redlands. Hillside Memorial Park has been owned and operated by the City of Redlands since 1918. The cemetery is located in the southwestern section of the City in an area of scenic rolling hills. Our cemetery grounds have an approximately 53 acres making Hillside Memorial Park the largest city owned cemetery in California. Of those 53 acres, there are 13 acres that are left undeveloped and available for future cemetery development projects.
